

Augusta Feb 5.. 1862,
My Dear Sarah
I received
your letter last evening
I am sorry that you
have been disturbed in consequence of a miserable
fool's alluding to a defect
in one of your eyes that happened by an accident
by no means your fault
I am I have no doubt as sorry as any human being
can be that your eye has received an injury - but the allusion to it by a fool will injure no one except himself and I hope
will give you no further uneasiness

My Dear Sarah

your letter last evening & I am sorry that you
have disturbed in
by no means your fault

Description: P.F. Sanborn letter to daughter

at about 8 1/2 o'clock this morning - Most of them went off in high glee - Some few seemed to be loth to leave - I noticed one man after all his comp anions were in the cars stood beside the road
with a woman holding on to him (his wife I suppose) who seemed determined to retain him
At length an officer
ordered him into the
cars and I saw no
more of him - poor
fellows; many of them
have seen Augusta
for the last time
You made no all
usion to Rev Mr Eatons

party did you not hear of it or did you feel bad because you
were not present —
We had a great time
I assure you —

Mr Eaton
said there were over 150 present — Sword presentation — Sash
do — with the closing
up of a pocket bible.
Instrumental & vocal
music — and prayer
by Rev Mr Wentworth
So you see Kents Hill
furnished one Minister to Mr E soiree —

Yesterday Emery O'Brien
sent me a description of the matter for publication in the Journal

I handed the documents to Mr Stevens last evening - and I suppose the account will be out to day or to morrow

I have no time to write more at this time

Your aff. father
