Description: Neal Dow wrote to William Fessenden, to resign his commission in the army.

in that way.

I am sorry to leave the service, as I wished to "see it out" - but at my time of life, recovery from pro-=tration is very slow. When I arrived at home, my friends hardly thought I should sur=vive so long as this.

I take the liberty of en=closing my resignation to you, as the best thing to do under the circum=stances, and will be very much obliged for any atten=tion you may be so kind as to give to it.

Very Truly Yours

I shall be glad not to have it connected - in any way, with the list you speak of - not even in the time of its getting into the papers.
