

Lubec Maine Feb 15/52
Sister Sarah alias Mrs Greenleaf

I am a little farther down East than I was when I wrote you before. We came here yesterday from East Machias We have found rooms but have not set up our apparatus. We shall fix up our Rooms to morrow and commence operations--- Lubec is the last place that was made It was a number of years ago quite a busy place. in the last War the English took possession of Eastport and the yankees not liking to live under them moved over here and carried on there business since the evacuation of that place by the British Lubec has been on the decline The scenery from here is very pretty. the vilage is situated so as to overlook the Bay diversified with Islands. Eastport can be seen in the distance pleasantly situated on an Island and here and there can be seen vessels with there white sails spread to the breeze, Campo-Bello Island

Description: Letter to Sarah Tarbox Greenleaf from brother Valentine is but a short distance off owned by the English also Grand Menan can be seen 3 or 4 leagues distant with its high coast towering above the blue watters and upon the whole I think this part of down East is rather pretty and I suppose when mild Summer returns with its green carpets and rosey Smiles it would add much to its beauty. I see your marriage this week in the Argus, I wish you much joy and Connubial happiness as long as your life may not a wave of trouble or sorrow lash your little bark while on the voyage of life May your Groom be guided by wisdoms hand. may you strew his track Dear Sister with smiles so he may buffet his way through this cold hearted world. a great deal depends upon the Wife in making the Husband happy and prosperous through life When he is in trouble Dear Sister meet him with a smile. When Prosperity crowns your path with every thing that you can desire on earth, then you can revel in earthly bliss but this may end. Seek that Dear Sister that will never end. that goal which is beyond this earth then you can revel in bliss that knows no end
