the box we were under marching

Baton Rouge La Jan 15th 1863

To our folks

As it is a stormy day and <sup>as</sup> I have nothing to do will try and write a few lines and explain about that box that I sent by Lieut Pilsbury as he wishes me to so you will understand how the mistake was made. it was all marked plain when he sent it but was opened at the city as they allow one box to pass until it is inspected to see what it contains to prevent soldiers from stealing private property such as jewelry and the things were not put back as they were before and the box that you got Lieut Pilsbury did not know what there was in it did not intend to send it but when he packed

orders and it was done in a hurry you must thought that it was in small business robing the hospital but that was a mistake of Pilsbury in sending that box at all the box that his wife could not open is mine and is easely opened by pushing the bunch down that the key hole is in and if she could get it open she would see at once that it was mine but it is of no use to explain further as I think you will get it before you get this Lieut Hight will know about it. if the mistake is not found out before he gets there. there is not much in the box of any account, there is two brushes a knife, and some other trash, and a lot of old letters that you will see to taking care of and that they are not opened as there is nothing in them that would interest any one and I have sent some more by Hight that you will put with them.

I send them home to get rid of luging them and if I should ever get home should like to keep them and if not they are of no use to any one and will be destroyed. I went and had my picture taken yesterday but did not have time to write a word as the Lieut went off as soon as I get back you will see by that that I am looking saveage. I intended to have had it taken under arms but did not have a chance I did not intend to write a letter and have not but have scratch more than I ment to sogood bye Melville I Milliken
