

Boston, July 19, 1850.

Esteemed Friend:

Congratulating you on the organization of the Portland Anti-Slavery Society, I shall be happy to comply with the invitation extended to me, in its behalf, by you, to give a lecture at the time specified in your note, -- Deo volente. As for any remuneration, beyond my travelling expenses, I desire not a farthing -- as I fairly owe another visit to your city, in consequence of the liberality shown to me through friend Newell A. Foster and Mrs. Morrill -- to whom, and all the other friends, I desire to be kindly remembered.

Hoping that the series of ~~meeting~~ lectures contemplated will result in greatly increasing the anti-slavery sentiment in Portland and its vicinity, I remain,

Yours, with great respect and esteem,
Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

Elizabeth Mountfort.

Boston, July 19, 1850

Esteemed Friend:

Congratulating you on the organization of the Portland Anti-Slavery Society, I shall be happy to comply with the invitation extended to me, in its behalf, by you to give a lecture at the time specified in your note, -- Deo volente. As for any remuneration, beyond my travelling expenses, I desire not a farthing -- as I fairly owe another visit to your city, in consequence of the liberality shown to me through friend Newell A. Foster and Mrs. Morrill -- to whom, and all the other friends, I desire to be kindly remembered.

Hoping that the series of ~~meetings~~ lectures contemplated will result in greatly increasing the anti-slavery sentiment in Portland and its vicinity, I remain,

Yours, with great respect and esteem,

Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

Elizabeth Mountfort.

Contributed to Maine Memory Network by the Maine Historical Society

(Local Code: Coll. 14, Box 1, fl. 3)

Date: July 19, 1850

Description: Letter from William Lloyd Garrison to Elizabeth Mountfort of the Portland Anti-Slavery Society.

БІБЛІОТЕКА
НАШОГО НАРОДУ

Elizabeth Montfort,
Portland,
Me.

