Words and music especially written by Dr. Irvin J. Morgan, for Armistice Day Exercises, Nov. 11, 1919, City Hall, Portland, Maine.

Fair meadows, and mossy glens, New England for me! Fair lakes, in unending chains, New England for me! First named,—by the Pilgrim Band, Who braved storm and sea, And anchored, off Plymouth's strand, New England for me!	Our fire-side, enchanted lore, New England for me! First known, on our rugged shore, New England for me! "The fired-shot,—Heard round the world," That all might be free, "The night-ride of Paul Revere," New England for me!
Tall Elms, and great Oaks that wave, New England for me! Grand Cedars, the forests gave, New England for me! These Emblems,—our Native sons Adopt, full and free, America's stalwart ones, New England for me!	Oh, sing! for the world at last, New England for me! Sees day-break, above the mast, New England for me! Sing on, sing, in higher strains, The world we must free, To echo their homage back, New England for me!

(IN MEMORIUM. For All New England Heroes)

Bring garlands, and deck with fame,
New England for me!
Those called,—to defend thy Name,
New England for me!
Brave ones, facing shot and shell,
The Whole World to free,
Baptized, in their precious blood,
New England for me!
