

J. G. M. GLESSNER, President
Littleton, N. H.

G. H. JUDKINS, Superintendent
Wilson's Mills, Maine

GEORGE W. CHAUNCEY, Secretary and Treasurer
215 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

PARMACHENEE CLUB

Wilson's Mills, Maine, August 11, 1918

Had a twelve o'clock lunch at a small hotel. The automobile was there to meet us and we motored over to Wilson's Mills a distance of about 50 miles and arrived at the Aziscohos Dam about three o'clock. We got to the carry landing at five o'clock and to the club about seven. I forgot to tell you the way we motored in, from Berlin we followed the river to Errol and from Errol you come the same way as if you came from Colebrook. Berlin is quite a big town having a population of about 13,000.

I was very sorry we could not find the flower, most of the books had the flowers arranged under families and as you did not know anything about it they did not help much, but I am sure if we had had as much time as we wanted I could have found it, because I could have look through the books from beginning to end.

I don't remember I told you I was not interested in Ridgefield because I think it beautiful and am very much interested in the house and place, but there really was not very much for me to do in Ridgefield except when I had a horse there and then I enjoyed very much to ride around the country.

I shall try not to disappoint you about writing because I will write you once a week but don't get upset if you do not receive the letters regularly because you know what the mail service is like up here and I don't know how long it takes the letters to go out.

There was no one here when I arrived but on Friday Mr. Taggart and

J.G.M. GLESSNER, President G. H. JUDKINS, Superintendent GEORGE W. CHAUNCEY, Secretary and Treasurer
Littleton, N. H. Wilson's Mills, Maine 215 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

PARMACHENEE CLUB

Wilson's Mills, Maine, August 11, 1918

had a twelve o'clock lunch at a small hotel. The automobile was there to meet us and we motored over to Wilson's Mills a distance of about 50 miles and arrived at the Aziscohos Dam about three o'clock. We got to the carry landing at five o'clock and to the club about seven. I forgot to tell you the way we motored in, from Berlin we followed the river to Errol and from Errol you come the same way as if you came from Colebrook. Berlin is quite a big town having a population of about 13,000.

I was sorry we could not find the flower, most of the books had the flowers arranged under families and as you did not know anything about it they did not help much, but I am sure if we had as much time as we wanted I could have found it, because I could have look through the books from beginning to end.

I don't remember I told you I was not interested in Ridgefield because I think it beautiful and am very much interested in the house and place, but there really was not very much for me to do in Ridgefield except when I had a horse there and then I enjoyed very much to ride around the country.

I shall try not to disappoint you about writing because I will write you once a week but don't get upset if you do not receive the letters regularly because you know what the mail service is like up here and I don't know how long it takes the letters to go out.

There was no one here when I arrived but on Friday Mr. Taggart and

