My Dear Brother, Read March 6th 1862
Since I wrote you last week, I have had an application to let my farm, the applicant is Mr Franklin Staples, Son of Oliver Staples of this town, a young man with no family, but his wife, he will hire or take it on shares, will find his own team and farming tools, I have made enquiry of Mr Fitch who says, he believes him to be a young Man, of good habits, honest and industrious, and did he wish to rent or let a farm, he knows of no one, he should rather trust, I have promised him my answer by the middle of March, Lyman the young man, I now hire, will work for a 100, and 36 Dollars a year, and now I want your advice as to which will be best, to let or rent my farm, or carry it on myself, I like my present mode of living very well, and am well satisfied with Lyman but I fear it will be too expensive for my means, to hire so much labour as I shall be obliged to, Daniel wrote me that he should come to Baldwin soon to dispose of his team, and farming utensils, I fear that I cannot raise the money to purchase them, and cannot work the farm without them, I could not determine, without consulting you, shall be governed by your judgment, This is the last day of Winter and he is bidding us a severe farewell, with love to yourself and family affectionately your sister Hannah

My Dear Brother,

Since I wrote you last week, I have had an application to let my farm, the applicant is Mr Franklin Staples, Son of Oliver Staples of this town, a young man with no family, but his wife, he will hire or take it on shares, will find his own team, and farming tools, I have made enquiry, of Mr Fitch, who says, he believes him to be a young Man, of good habits, honest and industrious, and did he wish to rent or let a farm, he knows of no one, he should rather, trust, I have promised him my answer by the middle of March, Lyman [words missing] the young Man, I now hire, will, work for [words missing] a 100, and 36 Dollars a year, and now I want your advice as to which will be best, to let or rent, my farm, or carry it on myself, I like my present mode of living very well, and am well satisfied with Lyman but I fear it will be too expensive for my means to hire as much labour as I shall be obliged to, Daniel wrote me that he should come to Baldwin soon to dispose of his team, and farming utensils, I fear that I cannot raise the money to purchase them, and cannot work the farm without them, I could not determine, without consulting^{you} and shall be governed by your judgment, This is the last day of Winter and he is bidding us a severe farewell.

With love to yourself and family affectionately your Sister Hannah
