

1832

1932

Portland Centennial March

100th
[city seal]
Portland, Me
1832
1932

[image]

By
Wilfrid Tremblay
Words By
Ernest Webster Robinson

Published By
Kemball Music Co.
517 Congress Street,
Portland, Maine
- E S F -

35c

Contributed to Maine Memory Network by Maine Historical Society
(Sheet Music 27)

MMN #

42233

Date: 1932

Description: Sheet music for Portland Centennial March

To the City of Portland
1832 - PORTLAND CENTENNIAL - 1932
MARCH

ERNEST WEBSTER ROBINSON
Allegro con spirito

WILFRID TREMBLAY

Piano ff

Copyright 1932 by Wilfrid Tremblay
International Copyright Secured

MADE IN U.S.A.

To the City of Portland
1832 - Portland Centennial - 1932

March

Ernest Webster Robinson

Wilfrid Tremblay

Allegro Con Spirito

Copyright 1932 By Wilfrid Tremblay
International Copyright Secured

Made In U.S.A.

2 § TRIO

A cen - tu - ry of oi - ty - hood and two of
 (We) list to old At - lan - tic beat up - on our
 (Thy) fu - ture lies in mis - ty light with glo - ry

vil - lage life; ——— Three hun - dred years of glo - ry
 rock - bound shore; ——— We tra - vel back in mem - o - all a - round; ——— A shaft of light - ning here and

TRIO

A cen - tu - ry of ci - ty - hood and two of
 (We) list to old At - lan - tic beat up - on our
 (Thy) fu - ture lies in mis - ty light with glo - ry

vil - lage life; ——— Three hundred tears of glo - ry
 rock-bound shore; ——— We tra - vel back in mem - o -
 all a - round; ——— A shaft of light - ning here and strewn a - mid thy beau - ty, rife. ——— We sing of

ry to days long gone be - fore; ——— We live once
there the thun - der's might - y sound. ——— And from the

thy il - lus - trious men who 'mid their joy and pain ———
more our Char - ter's birth, each pass - ing day a - gain; ———
cha - os there will come for cen - tu - ries to reign ———

— Kept ban - ners fly - ing to the breeze, O
— Our hearts beat fast - er as we pray for
— A ci - ty fair - er than a dream, our

Port - land fair, of Maine. ———
Port - land fair, of Maine. ———
Port - land fair, of Maine. ———

strewn a - mid thy beaut - y, rife. ——— We sing of
ry to days long gone be - fore; ——— We live once
there the thun - der's might - y sound. ——— And from the

thy il - lus - trious men who 'mid their joy and pain ———
more our Charter's birth, each pass - ing day a - gain; ———
cha - os there will come for cen - tu - ries to reign ———

— Kept ban - ners fly - ing to the breeze, O
— Our hearts beat fast - er as we pray for
— A ci - ty fair - er than a dream, our

Port - land fair, of Maine. ———
Port - land fair, of Maine. ———
Port - land fair, of Maine. ———

ff

2. We
3. Thy

p

D.S. al Fine §

2. We
3. Thy

1832 — PORTLAND, MAINE — 1932

IT IS on the occasion of the one hundredth birthday of the City of Portland — a century under charter — that this composition is officially dedicated to the “Forest City” of Maine.

Portland, as a community, was settled in 1632, and this event, the Ter-Centenary, is also commemorated this year — 1932. Three centuries ago the community, now Portland, was settled by George Cleeves and Richard Tucker, and two hundred years later, or in 1832, the City of Portland was born. Due recognition is being given these anniversaries, and the Centennial Music Festival, aside from being a part of the observance of National Music Week, is also a feature of the 1932 Ter-Centenary and Centennial celebration.

Portland's century of progress, which has its ending this year of 1932, is now history. These one hundred years have witnessed the fall and rise of Portland on more than one occasion — lifting herself from all disasters with determination and unconquerable spirit — always steadily advancing.

Today, Portland, Maine, is held in high affection by the country at large — is proud of her position as a seaport, as an industrial, wholesale, and recreational center, and as a vast contributor to the world of art, music, and literature.

1832 — Portland, Maine — 1932

IT IS on the occasion of the one hundredth birthday of the City of Portland — a century under charter — that this composition is officially dedicated to the “Forest City” of Maine.

Portland, as a community, was settled in 1632, and this event, the Ter-Centenary, is also commemorated this year — 1932. Three centuries ago the community, now Portland, was settled by George Cleeves and Richard Tucker, and two hundred years later, or in 1832, the City of Portland was born. Due recognition is being given these anniversaries, and the Centennial Music Festival, aside from being a part of the observance of National Music Week, is also a feature of the 1932 Ter-Centenary and Centennial celebration.

Portland's century of progress, which has its ending this year of 1932, is now history. These one hundred years have witnessed the fall and rise of Portland on more than one occasion — lifting herself from all disasters with determination and unconquerable spirit — always steadily advancing.

Today, Portland, Maine, is held in high affection by the country at large — is proud of her position as a seaport, as an industrial, wholesale, and recreational center, and as a vast contributor to the world of art, music, and literature.