

Dover Jan 21. 1857-

Mr. Chandler

Dear Sir=-

Your favor of the 14th inst was duly received and brot. intelligence later than that re.^d by the papers from Bangor.

We feel very well satisfied with the Senators Elect and presume that they are the best selections under the circumstances, yet we should have been equally satisfied had the choice fell upon Lot Morrill and T. O. Smith altho the latter would ^{have} been rather a bitter pill for Maine Law Men. The Bangor Journal seems to be quite jubilant over the defeat of the Morrills yet it would have been doubly so if Hamlin had been defeated. They seem to have much to say about the demoralization of the Republican Party, mainly because some who have sought for places which they have failed to obtain ^{feel disappointed} if the strength of the party consist merely in the "cohesive power of public blunder". There might be some ground for the prediction, as it is, the assertion is simply gratuitous.

I suppose you know something of the contest for Councilors and the chagrin and mortification of those who were disappointed in their efforts to obtain the situation. I think there is vitality enough in the party to survive such shocks. Although personally I should have been pleased to have seen our friend Pullen in that position. Yet I am

Dover Jan. 21. 1857

Mr Chandler

Dear Sir=-

Your favor of the the 14th inst was duly received and brot. intelligence later than that re.^d by the payments from Bangor.

We feel very well satisfied with the Senators Elect and presume that they new the best selections under the circumstances. Yet we should have been equally satisfied had the choices fell upon Lot Morrill and F.O.J. Smith. Albeit the latter would ^{have} been rather a bitter pill for Maine Law Men. The Bangor Journal seems to be quite jubilant over the defeat of the Morrills yet it would have been doubly so if Hamlin had been defeated. They seem to have much to say about the demoralization of the Republican Party, mainly because some who have sought for places which they have failed to obtain ^{feel disappointed} of the strength of the party consisted merely in the "cohesive power of public blunder". There might be some ground for prediction, as it is, the assertion is simply gratuitous.

I suppose you know something of the contest for councilors and the chagrin and mortification of those who were disappointed in their efforts to obtain the situation. I think there is vitality enough in the party to survive such shocks. Although personally I should have been pleased to have seen our friend Pullen in that position. Yet I am

by no means certain

that his election would have been the best policy, or would have given less dissatisfaction generally.

I presume that no one could have been taken whose Election would have been so unsatisfactory to our Border Ruffian friends as that of Monroe. They feel disappointed and chagrined, and some of them do not attempt to keep it secret.
I confess that I am somewhat malicious when I say that I enjoy their discomfiture much. It was really gratifying to see them "brot^{ch} all Standing" as they were here when the intelligence was rec.^d of the defeat of Forney, who is Buchanan's "Man Friday" — it shows conclusively that they have work to do among themselves to keep their ranks steady, and prevent insurrection among their own subjects. If nothing more is gained, it will draw their attention to their ^{internal} own affairs, and leave the Republicans free to pursue their own business in their own way.

We have been shut out from the world since Monday by a violent snow storm which has probably visited you. We have had no mail since Saturday night, and from present appearances we may have to wait until Saturday before we get any further intelligence from abroad. — There is nothing of importance as regards news in the vicinity which is of any interest.
Our friend Drake has suffered a slight interruption in his business in consequence of a visit from some of his Boston friends. — an arrangement was effected by which he was enabled to go on with his business after taking J. S. Thompson for a partner — had he and Osborn

by no means certain

that his election would have been the best policy, or
would have given less dissatisfaction generally.

I presume that no one could have been taken whose Election
would have been so unsatisfactory to our Border Ruffian friends as that of Monroe. They feel disappointed and
chagrined and some of them do not attempt to keep it secret.
I confess that I am somewhat malicious when I say that I enjoy their discomfiture much. It was really gratifying
to see them "brot^{ch} all Standing" as they were here when the
intelligence was rec.^d of the defeat of Forney who is Buchanan's
"Man Friday" — it shows conclusively that they have work to do among themselves to keep their ranks steady, and
prevent insurrection among their own subjects. if nothing
more is gained it will draw their attention to their internal ^{own}
affairs and leave the Republicans free to pursue their
own business in their own way. ~

We have been shut out from the world since
Monday by a violent snow storm which has probably
visited you. We have had no mail since Saturday night, and from present appearances we may have to
wait until Saturday before we get any further intelligence
from abroad. = There is nothing of importance as regards news in this vicinity which is of any interest our friend Drake has suffered a slight interruption
in his business in consequence of a visit from some of his Boston friends. An arrangement was effected by
which he was enabled to go on with his business
after taking J.S. Thompson for a partner --- had he and Osborn had less to do with W. Cobb it would have been decidedly for their interest. — Osborn you are probably aware compromised with his Boston creditors for 25 cents on a dollar canceling a bill of 1000 $ for 400. which is called a shrewd transaction by his Border friends I learn that Capt. Chase Parker died yesterday. will be buried Thursday afternoon Hoping that you will have a pleasant sojourn at the capital and that the Legislature will be "wise as Infants"

Chas P. Chandler Esq
Augusta
Me

I remain your truly
C.H.B. Woodbury

had less to do with W. Cobb it would have been decidedly for their interest. — Osborn
you are probably aware compromised with his
Boston creditors for 25 cents on a dollar
canceling a bill of 1000 $ for 400. Which is called a shrewd transaction by his Border friends.
I learn that Capt. Chase Parker died
yesterday. Will be buried Thursday afternoon Hoping that you will have a pleasant sojourn
at the capital and that the Legislature will
be "Wise as Infants"

I remain your truly
C.H.B. Woodbury

Char^s P. Chandler Esq
Augusta
Me

C. H. Woodbury
Dover, Me
July 21, 1857