

City Point. Va. Feb 26. 1865.

My dear Miss F—

A part of our stores came at last, on Wednesday eve^g; but a large amount is still in Washington for lack of transportation. Mr Hayes goes up again this week, & will forward the remainder. We have rec^d one large box from Free St, & another from Westbrook, both of which I have acknowledged.

I should have written you earlier, but we have been overburdened with work for the last week. Rising at half past six in the morn^g & working without intermission until eleven or twelve at night. But we enjoy the work, & only wish we were able to do ten times as much. We have engaged a colored girl to wash our dishes this week, which will be quite a relief. Besides cooking all day for the soldiers, we keep a sort of half-way house or general Restaurant for all the Maine men on their way to & from the Front. Mr P. L. of Portland spent two nights with us recently, & expressed himself very much interested in the operations of our Agency. He gave us some money to buy milk with, & I think we shall hear from him again. Major Baker from Bingham was here to-day, just returned from a furlough home. He labored for

City Point. Va. Feb 26. 1865.
My dear Miss F—

A part of our stores came at last, on Wednesday eve^g; but a large amount is still in Washington for lack of transportation. Mr Hayes goes up again this week, & will forward the remainder. We have rec^d one large box from Free St, & another from Westbrook, both of which I have acknowledged.

I should have written you earlier, but we have been overburdened with work for the last week. Rising at half past six in the morn^g & working without intermission until 11 or twelve at night. But we enjoy the work, I only wish we were able to do ten times as much. We have engaged a colored girl to wash our dishes this week, which will be quite a relief. Besides cooking all day for the soldiers, we keep a sort of half-way house or general restaurant for all the Maine men of their way to & from the Front. Mr E- L- of Portland spent two nights with us recently, & expressed himself very much interested in the operation of our Agency. He gave us some money to buy milk with, & I think we shall hear from him again. Major Baker from Bingham was here to-day, just returned from a furlough home. He labored for

Contributed to Maine Memory Network by Maine Historical Society
MMN # 96630

Date: Feb. 26, 1865
Description: Ruth Mayhew report on supplies

our Agency at Skowhegan: he met several delegations of ladies from that county, & laid our claims before them.

We have rec^d the firkin of condensed cider, & are delighted with it: we opened it at once, & commenced issuing it to jaundiced patients. It is delicious.

We rec^d one barrel of sour Kraut with the vegetables that were shipped from Portland in Dec.

Young L- of the 7th Me. Battery, son of Mr A-L- of Portland was here recently with Lieut. L- of Bethel: the latter is an interesting & cultivated man, & a great reader. He says he suffers more from want of good reading than from any other cause. I mentioned every modern book I know, & found he had read everything except Parton's Life of Butler. He said they found copies of the Waverly novels in the Battery, given by the San. Com. to the troops that occupied the Fort before them, & he had found them a great recreation for leisure hours. Young L- is a fine, frank, spirited young man, very robust & hardy. He dines with us occasionally, & we are always delighted to see him. I am sure his parents would be proud of him as we are. If any of our Portland friends felt disposed to contribute a little tobacco it would be very acceptable.

Very truly yrs,

R. S. M-

our Agency at Skowhegan: he met several delegations of ladies from that county, & laid our claims before them.

We have rec^d the firkin of condensed cider, & are delighted with it: we opened it at once, & commenced issuing it to jaundiced patients. It is delicious.

We rec^d one barrel of sour kraut with the vegetables that were shipped from Portland in Dec.

Young L - of the 7th Me. Battery, son of Mr A-L- of Portland was here recently with Lieut. L- of Bethel: the latter is an interesting and cultivated man, & a great reader. He says he suffers more from want of good reading than from any other cause. I mentioned every modern book I know, & found he had read everything except Parton's Life of Butler. He did say they they found copies of Waverly novels in the Battery, given by the San. Com. to the troops that occupied the fort before them, & he had found them a great recreation for leisure hours. Young L - is a fine, frank, spirited young man, very robust & hardy. He dines with us occasionally, & we are always delighted to see him. I am sure his parents would be proud of him as we are. If any of our Portland friends felt disposed to contribute a little tobacco it would be very acceptable.

Very truly yrs,

R. S. M -